

| DISCUSSION QUESTION | OUR GROUP'S RESPONSES |
|--|------------------------------|
| 1. Which scene did you choose? What is going on in this part of the story? (Give your classmates some context.) | |
| 2. Why did your group choose this scene? What stood out to you about it? | |
| 3. What did you notice as encountered the graphic novel version of the scene for the first time? | |
| 4. What do the characters depicted in the graphic novel version of the scene look like? | |

| | |
|--|--|
| 5. Focus in particular on the depiction of black women. Is it different than described by Butler or than what you imagined while reading? | |
| 6. How does the scene portray violence in the graphic version vs. text version? Which seems more “explicit” or intense? Why? | |
| 7. How do you respond emotionally to the scene? Is your response the same for graphic vs. text-based version of the scene? | |
| 8. What else is added to or left out of the graphic novel version of the scene? How might this affect how we read or understand the scene, or Kindred overall? | |
| 9. What connections, questions, or other ideas do you have after analyzing your scene in two different forms? | |